

A beautiful "green" deck is made possible with TimberTech's Earthwood Evolutions deck board. The fully capped composite planks provide moisture, scratch and fade resistance.

From Green to Greener

Living walls, pavers and deck products for eco-conscious clients

The evolution of a new product category by Ohio-based TimberTech (www.timbertech.com) called Earthwood Evolutions consists of capped composite decking. The industry's first fully capped plank that features HydroLock technology, which gives the decking material high durability and moisture resistance; the decking material can be cleaned with soap and water for everyday spills.

According to a company spokesperson, the Earthwood Evolutions line features a range of earth tone colors (Teak, Walnut and Rosewood) and is available in 12, 16 and 20-foot lengths, as well as matching 12-inch fascia and 7.25-inch stair risers in 12-foot lengths. The product is backed by a 25-year limited residential fade and stain warranty.
